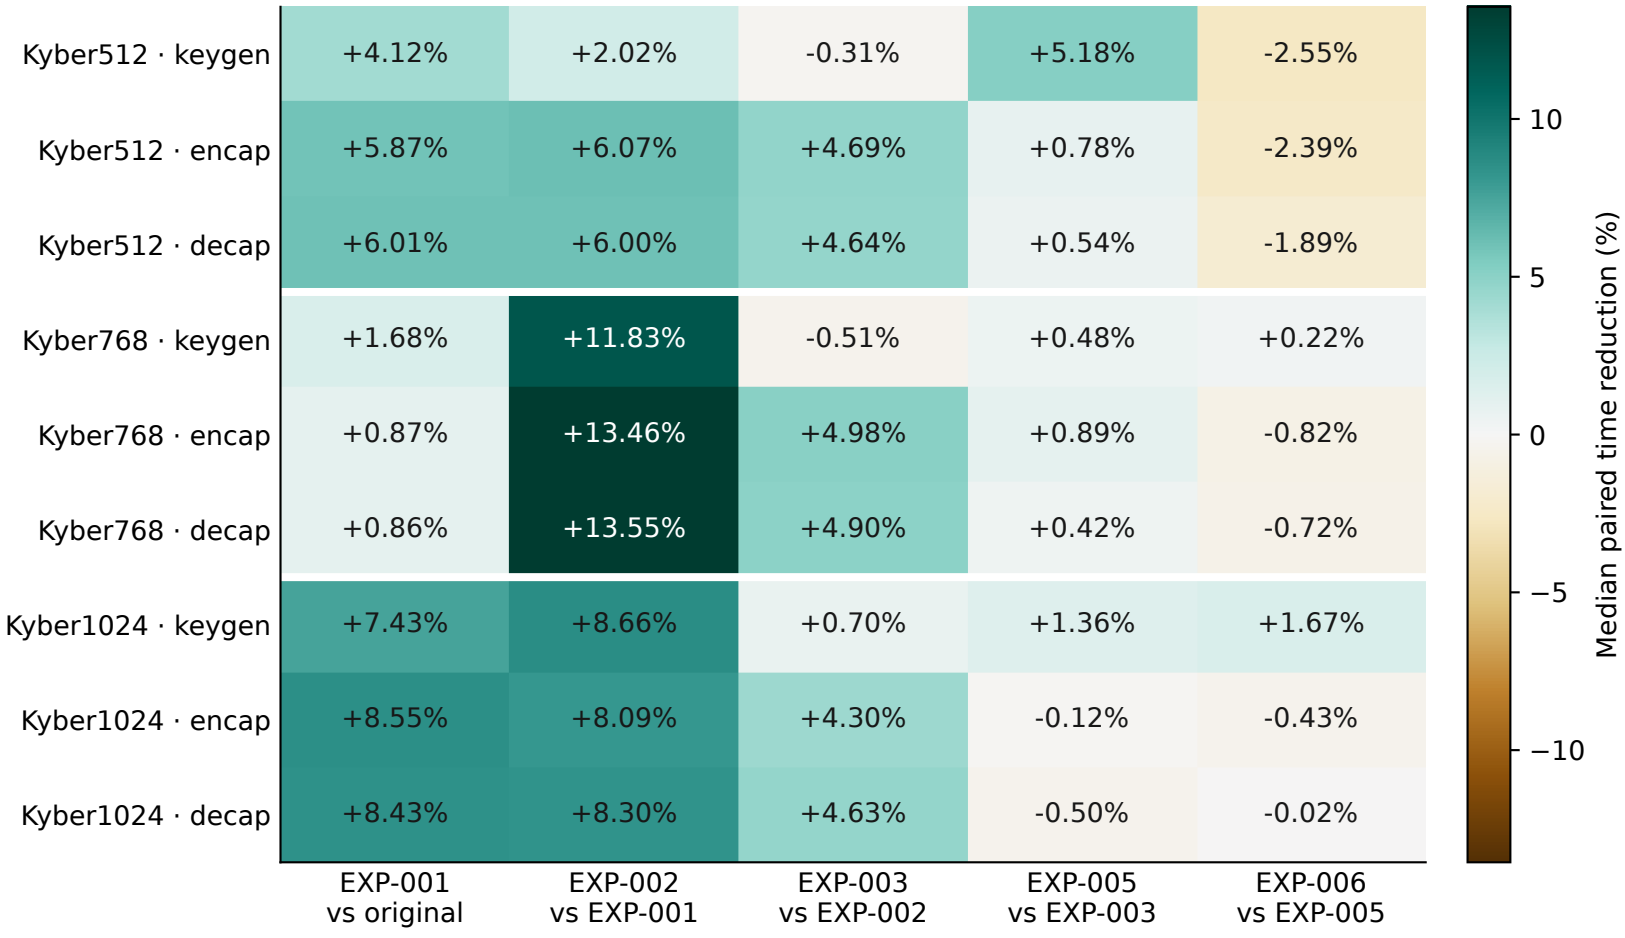
Incremental effects across the optimisation trials



Each column uses its own freshly measured predecessor (5 pairs, one session).
These percentages are conditional effects; they must not be added or multiplied into a total gain.